

the adventures of
Poni
&
POWSley

by christie Allen

the adventures of
Poni
&
POWSley

What happens when two highly-imaginative eight-year old tomboys think they're special agents on a secret mission to save the world from spies, space invaders and "scumbums"? Comical chaos is what happens, as their imagination turns out to be more real than imagined, and the wacky world they live in really is full of spies and space invaders – who are after them!

Poni and Powsley are inseparable, bestest-of-best friends. These two tomboys go together like peanut butter and jelly. Together, they give new meaning to the word "t-r-o-u-b-l-e." And as if being eight wasn't tough enough, these girls recently "discovered" they're special agents on a secret mission! Yep, they're pretty sure they have to save the world from spies, space invaders, and "scumbums!"

It may seem like a daunting task, but our darling-duo are not alone on their brave quest. As our two fearless heroines zip along in their soapbox car, they have the friendship and guidance of one very special rat. Make that one safari-jeep driving, special agent, talking rat!

Oh, to be eight, again. The world of make-believe comes to life as our three special agents rush off to save the world, even if they don't know exactly from who, what, where, when, why or how. They're sure it'll all work out just fine.

JUST BECAUSE YOU'RE PARANOID...
DOESN'T MEAN THEY'RE NOT AFTER YOU!

The truth is, there are spies and space invaders after them! As luck would have it, these girls are part of a top-secret government experiment - the Moonflowerville Community. And the rat, Sir Isaac, is another one of the government's little secrets.

This crazy mixed-up world was concocted by the deliriously wacky, Dr. DeVoid. This mad scientist, in her delusional daftness, has assigned two screwball D.I.A. (Dept. of Intelligence Agency) agents - Mike and Myke - the task of trailing our spunky kids and the informative rat. Oh, the madcap madness and howling hilarity that ensues. Now, as for the space invaders...

Poni and Powsley are always together. For the rare moments they're not (usually, because Powsley's gotten them grounded), they've rigged an intercom system between their bedroom windows, their first invention. You see, while most girls their age are playing with dolls, these girls are busy creating things, like an alien-brother-intrusion alarm, good-two-shoes repellent, school-grade-enhancer shakes, soggy-dinner-vegetables evaporator, and an animal-communication device. It's a good thing that they're inventors because it's an invaluable commodity when you're special agents. It all comes with the territory. But what on Earth makes these girls think that they're special agents?

Well, one morning Powsley was eating her cereal, and inside was a "special agent decoder ring." It may be hard to believe, but that very same morning, Poni was eating her cereal and she got one too! It was at that moment that they know what they always suspected to be true: they were special!

That was on a Monday. They know because they wrote it down in their "Special Agents Secret Mission Diary," which they started that very same day. Every good agent keeps one. It's a necessity if you expect to solve your secret mission. What secret mission? They're not quite sure yet, because it is a "secret," but that didn't stop them from hatching their plans...

To do list:

1. identify and beat up bad guys
2. find and stop (bad) spies
3. stop the Iguaxular alien space invasion!! (and, trick them into taking Eli back with them to their homeplanet!)

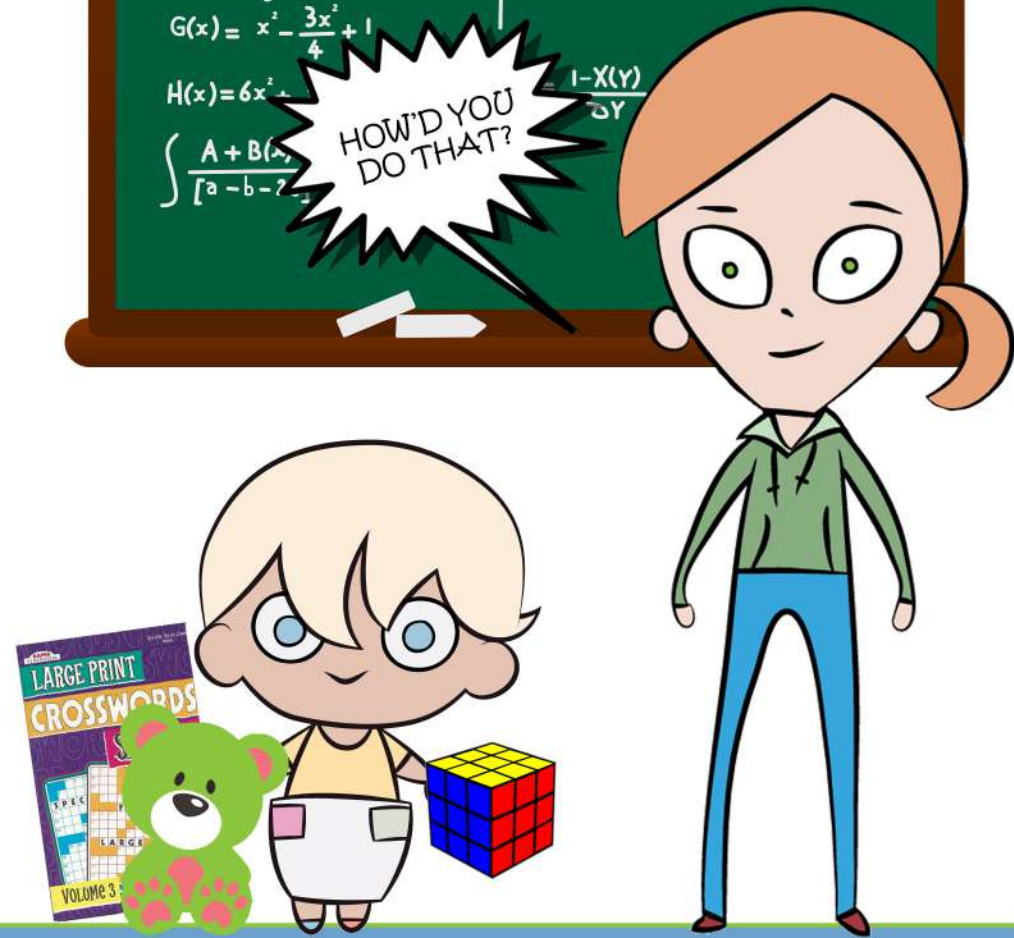

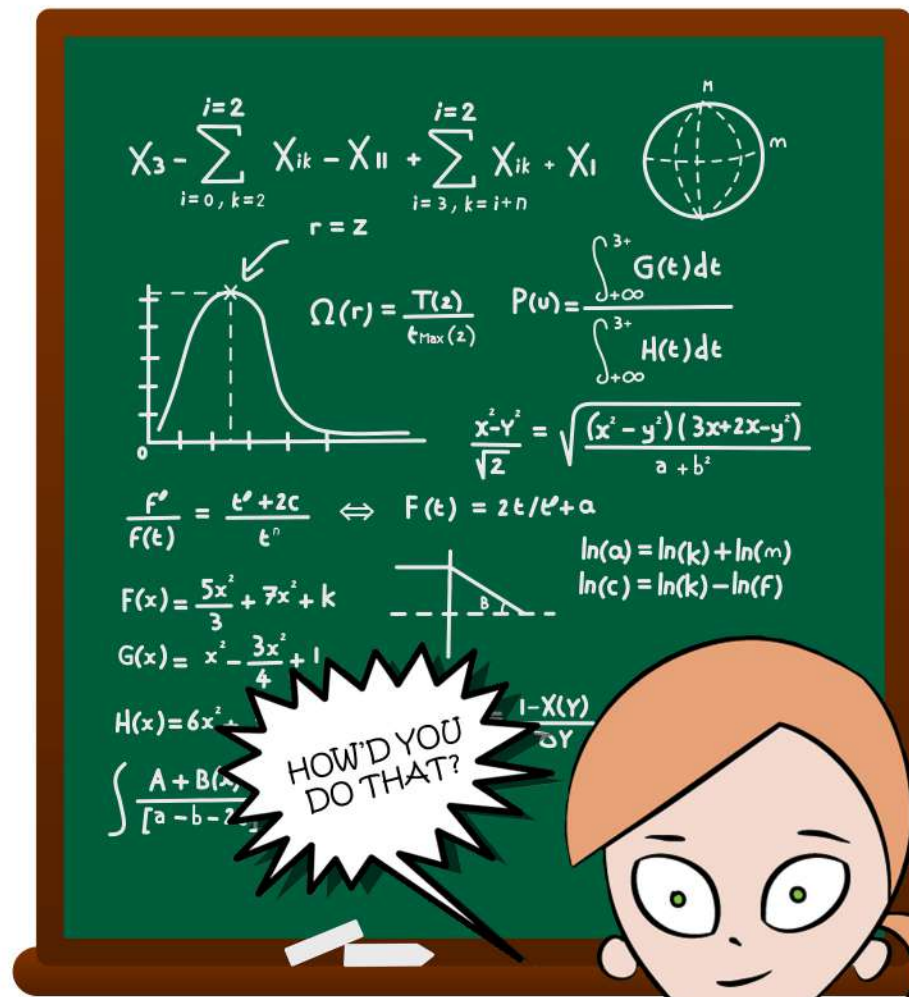

Poor Powsley is just a lonely orphan child. At least that's the lie she likes to tell people. She actually has an older brother, Eli, but she tries to act like he doesn't exist. Powsley is 100%-absolutely, positively sure that Eli is an alien who was left on their front porch by other aliens. "Way cool!" is what the boys in school said when Powsley talked about her alien-bro for show-n-tell. The teacher, however, was not amused. Undaunted, Powsley showed a picture of Eli, and went on to explain that he was from the very distant and very hostile planet, Iguaxular; at which point, the girls in Class burst out crying. That was the first day of school, and the first of many calls to Mr. and Mrs. Smith...

Poni is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jones, and unlike Powsley she truly loves her little brother, Karl.

However, he's so smart it's spooky. The girls seem to be the only ones to notice that he's different than other two-year olds. He can barely talk, but seems to know everything! First of all, he can write! But, even more amazing, he can do things like – crossword puzzles, word searches, solve complex mathematical equations, and he even mastered the Rubik's Cube. It's crazy. And, he's still in diapers, which never require changing?! The girls have learned this is just not normal.

They have a theory: the aliens dropped both Eli and Karl off, but on different trips, of course. The Iguaxulars didn't like Eli because, well, nobody does, and they didn't know what to do with Karl because he was so smart and all. For them, there can be no other explanation.

And what's this about a talking rat? The girls found the little creature in their secret, underground hideout. Well, it's not really a secret... or underground... but it's a hideout. Anyway, they were in there no more than 15 minutes when in marched this rat. They began a staring contest. Then, after a brief discussion amongst themselves, the girls decided the rat must have been sent for the secret mission too, and was awaiting her first assignment. They named her Betty, and set out to earn her trust - not an easy thing to do! First, they dusted-off an old doll house and fixed it up. Next, they dug out a bunch of doll clothes to find something suitable for a special agent rat to wear. Finally, they modified Poni's favorite remote-controlled car. After all, every special agent needs a super cool, agent car! The end result was one rat living in the lap of luxury, complete with a penthouse, a rather extensive wardrobe and a tricked-out safari-jeep cruiser. The very next morning the rat reciprocated by announcing, "My name's not Betty."

So, our Special Agents are off to save the planet and fulfill their destinies. They have been chosen, set apart, selected by their cereal's special prize decoder rings. Now all they have to do is hurry up and figure out their secret mission. This is their greatest adventure yet! Every day is a new world to discover, conquer, and explore. It's all really fun and exciting, but also really super important because they have to save the whole entire world, and third grade starts tomorrow! The girls' parents are concerned, as the stories Poni & Powsley have been telling lately have been getting pretty strange. They know that girls will be girls, and chalk it up to their wild imaginations. But remember...

...JUST BECAUSE YOU'RE PARANOID -
DOESN'T MEAN THEY'RE NOT AFTER YOU!

TOP SECRET
FILE #001-1134

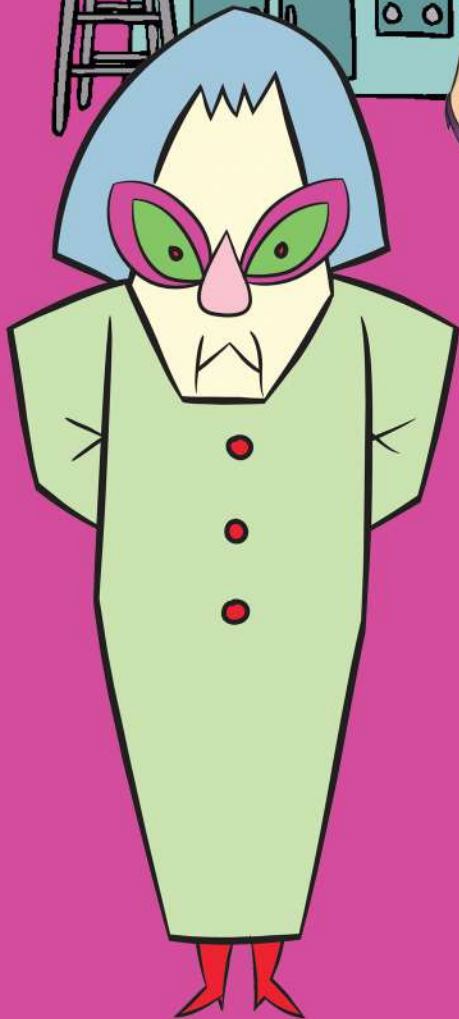

U.S.N.I.S.R.

AUTHORIZED PERSONNEL ONLY:

Dr. Eugenia DeVoid

The ensuing confidential material is the sole property of the U.S. National Institute of Scientific Research. Any persons, or agencies, who purposely, or coincidentally, come into contact with or gain knowledge of, or access to this material, are mandated by U.S. Federal law to immediately contact: Dr. DeVoid at the U.S.N.I.S.R. (216) 555-6666. It is a Federal crime for any unauthorized persons to violate the confidentiality and privacy of said materials.

SHE'S A
RAVING
LUNATIC

TOP SECRET
FILE #001-1134

U.S. NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF SCIENTIFIC RESEARCH

DR. DEVOID - DIRECTOR, U.S.N.I.S.R.

This narcissistic megalomaniac considers herself the most brilliant scientific mind alive. But her brilliance is a topic of much heated debate. She is more often described as certifiable and a raving lunatic, and that's just the stuff we can say. DeVoid is prone to incoherent ramblings, which she claims are a sure sign of her genius. She is well-known, but not well-liked, and prone to tirades that always end with "just wanting a little respect." This comically mad scientist was granted political asylum in America after having been run out of practically every country in the free (and not-so-free) world. Upon her arrival stateside, she was appointed Director of the U.S.N.I.S.R, where she promptly launched her two biggest and most controversial experiments: The Moonflowerville Community and Sir Isaac Rat. Moonflowerville is a genetically-engineered population for research, experimentation, and observation in order to form a superior, yet, submissive population. Sir Isaac was an unexceptional lab rat that Dr. DeVoid surgically rendered with human capabilities, and then trained to be an undetectable, ethically-expendable spy.

TOP SECRET
FILE #001-1134

U.S. NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF SCIENTIFIC RESEARCH

HAI - SCIENTIST, U.S.N.I.S.R.

A brilliant young scientist who ended up as DeVoid's trusted sidekick, completely by accident. For the first few weeks, DeVoid thought Hai was someone's kid, annoyingly following her around. This was made know by her daily P.A. announcement, "Scientist persons, please come get your child. Science Institute is not day care." Hai does have a rather youthful appearance, but that inane fact aside, upon DeVoid's arrival, Hai had been assigned as her temporary assistant to help her acclimate. DeVoid's obstinance coupled with Hai's politeness allowed the confusion to perpetuate a few weeks. Once DeVoid finally realized Hai was actually a scientist, and as he was the only scientist even remotely deferential to her, DeVoid decided to utilize him. She needed someone for testing her super-secret, virtual-portal phase of the Moonflowerville Community. As that designated person, Hai literally pops in-and-out, going back and forth between U.S.N.I.S.R. and the Community.

TOP SECRET

TOP SECRET
FILE #001-1134

U.S. NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF SCIENTIFIC RESEARCH

SIR ISAAC RAT (S.I.R.) - U.S.N.I.S.R. EXPERIMENT

With depressing beginnings as an experimental lab rat, his life was forever changed when he was chosen for Dr. DeVoid's secret experiment. After brain surgery transformed him into a wonder-rat, this Ph.D. educated, D.I.A. badge-carrying rat rebelled against the establishment. He is, in fact, a conscientious objector. His life ambition is now to save the world from oppressive and tyrannical government entities - specifically Dr. DeVoid. And, then there's his "condition," so to speak. During his D.I.A. training, it was discovered that he suffers from stress-induced amnesia. This means that when Isaac gets nervous, he goes blank. But, in spite of this tiny setback, Isaac is determined to stop DeVoid. It's the whole reason why he went A.W.O.L. and ran to Moonflowerville, first, to warn Poni and Powsley. He had no idea he would end up staying and becoming BFF's with the girls. Life as a lab rat made him a bit leery of humans. But, Isaac truly adores Poni and Powsley. This feisty adventurer is now their devoted, self-appointed protector, and over the moon (no pun, intended) to have joined forces, together, to save the world.

THE U.S. GOVERNMENT: DEPARTMENT OF INTELLIGENCE AGENCY

MIKE JOHNSON: Born the only son of a humble Idaho potato farmer, Mike's life ambition was to one day hold a much revered, "Degree in Agriculture." The big day arrived, so Mike borrowed the neighbor's phone to enroll in his dream-come-true correspondence course, and the operator patched him through. It wasn't until graduation day that Mike realized his monumental mistake as he was handed his certificate - "Department of Intelligence Agent." He was a D.I.A. Agent, not a farmer with a Degree in Agriculture?! Mike vaguely then understood why he never got to the courses in crop and animal husbandry. Shucks and heck. He just assumed they were coming later on in his training. This would also explain why his personnel file reflects, "He's a little slow." But, his training officers realized early on that Mike was willing to die for his country, and that counted for a lot. After graduation, Mike's Pa pointed out, "It's a paying job, ain't it?" Indeed, it was. So, Mike's been a D.I.A. Agent, ever since... but he still secretly dreams of one day finally getting his Agricultural Degree.

D.I.A. AGENT

AGENT NAME: MIKE JOHNSON

AGENT NUMBER: 120338

CLEARANCE LEVEL: TOP SECRET

THUMB INDEX MIDDLE RING PINKY

D.I.A. AGENT

AGENT NAME: MYKE JOHNSON

AGENT NUMBER: 112454

CLEARANCE LEVEL: TOP SECRET

THUMB INDEX MIDDLE RING PINKY

MYKE JOHNSON: The person of a million faces with no history, no past. Myke applied and was rejected seventeen times by the D.I.A. She was finally accepted - accidentally - when her application was confused with Mike's. This was not the first time Myke's been mistaken for being a man. In fact, you assumed she was a man until you started reading this. Actually, Myke prefers to self-identify as gender-neutral. Gender aside, Myke went on to become a distinguished agent with service to country spanning more than a decade, earning an unprecedented reputation as one of the Government's most feared lethal weapons, not always necessarily in a good way. Mike and Myke were assigned as D.I.A. partners, immediately after graduation, once the Agency realized its mistake. The rationale was to negate any further possible confusion, assign the two Mike/Myke's together as permanent partners: meaning, forever. And, it's an odd pairing because as nice of a guy as Mike is, Myke's not. When they found out they were assigned to the delicate "P & P Case," Mike said, "Shucks, ain't that nice." Whereas Myke's response was something along the lines of, "... a couple of &***##^*##* punk kids and a rat?! %#@&*!!!"

From the Desk of Dr. DeVoid

11/16/17

Memorandum

To: Mike and Myke, D.I.A. Agents

Agents -

Due to recent small bomb explosion in the employee break room, my secretary-girl is out. I have computer typed this myself because of its time urgency. Meticulous thoughts have been given about those kids and my rat. The powers that see in the United States of America Government, including myself - Dr. DeVoid - have modified our minds. I humbly told the President to his head that my extraordinarily keen mind has conceived something. The unforeseeable chain link of events with my rat conspiring with those kids is a blessing in hiding.

Let me explain in lay-down terms for you. The hypothesis and directives in both experiments can still be proven. I am brilliant, no? The kids and rat are a siren ringing. We will now see, hear, and know in our brains that I am right. The community populace will remain impervious. The stupid civilians will stay stupid like sheeps, ignoring siren. My rat has already proven to be success, only he was not to be double agents. Neveranyless, he is brilliant, and when we destroy him not one tear-duct will fall.

I get behind myself. Back to our mind modification. The original order to capture and reprogram the kids and rat is canceled. Instead, you agents are just to be spies. Of course, agent spies. I tell you to follow these three, take notes, like that. You will report to me. It is important. Think like this way: Eat, drink, and be merry those kids and my rat. I am most esteemed colleague,

Dr. DeVoid

"Science by any other name, is still science." - as quoted by, Dr. DeVoid

The recent wrinkle in both experiments is now fascinatingly intertwined: S.I.R. going A.W.O.L. and Poni & Powsley deciding they are special agents. The rat ran away to warn P&P, and the two experiments have now collided.

None of this is as DeVoid had originally planned, and as far as a controlled-experiment goes, it's a total disaster! But DeVoid still thinks she can make it work. She must. There are only three things DeVoid truly cares about: herself, her reputation, and her experiments.

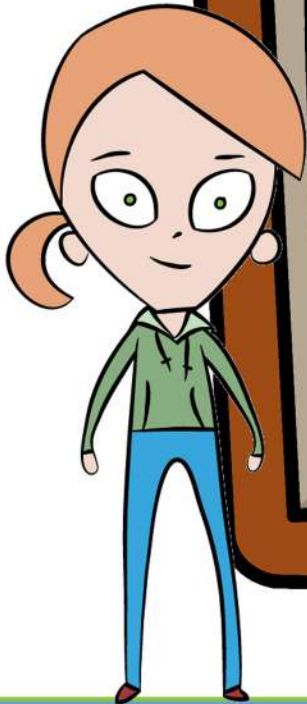

the episodes...

the adventures of
Poni
&
POWSley

The Adventures of Poni & Powsley
 S1, E1: We Must Be Special Agents
 11:00 AM - 11:30 AM

11:24 AM
 Monday, December 3, 2018

CHANNEL	11:00 AM	11:30 AM
---------	----------	----------

Your Awesome Network

The Adventures of Poni & Powsley : Episode #1 - We Must Be Special Agents

One sun-shiny morning, perky lil' Poni and Powsley receive special prize decoder rings from "inside specially marked boxes of Wheat-Ones." Powsley explains that this is the sign she's been waiting for. Furthermore, she claims she talked to "an angel on a Harley" who told her "build a clubhouse and she will come." Not one to question heavenly orders, Poni wholeheartedly gets on board. The end result is one tree top eye-sore of a clubhouse, but not bad for two eight-year olds. Ready to start their mission, they sit and wait. Amazingly enough, within minutes, in stumbles a cute little blue rat – talking no less! Meanwhile, this recent chain of events has Dr. DeVoid scurrying around in a dither, thusly sending Mike and Myke out scrambling to find out, "Just what the heck is going on here?!"

The Adventures of Poni & Powsley : Episode #2 - We're Under Attack

The first official special agent meeting is called to order in the newly renovated, fully modernized secret agent hideout, compliments of Sir Isaac Rat. First on the agenda, what do they know, and what is their mission? Upon completion of Isaac and Powsley's dissertations, the two parties realize that neither knows what the heck the other one is talking about. Nevertheless, they come to the irrefutable conclusion that the world is in danger. They are under attack from spies, space invaders, and scumbums! All the while, Mike and Myke have been spying on the meeting, and sending information back to DeVoid via a transmitter in DeVoid's ear. Unfortunately, due to transmission problems and operator error, comical confusion and faux pas ensue, propelling DeVoid into a tailspin that only she could create.

Your Awesome Network

The Adventures of Poni & Powsley : Episode #3 - The Alien Incident

With the passion of Powsley's conviction, the girls convince Isaac that the most pressing danger is posed by the Iguaxular aliens. Nobody else seems as concerned as they are, despite the fact that the Iguaxulars are obviously alive and well, leaving unwanted brothers everywhere! The special agents agree it's best to start close to home. So, they spy on Eli for useful information to stop the space invasion. With their secret spy mission heavily underway, our trio get more than they bargained for when Eli starts "transmitting" home! Meanwhile, Isaac starts acting strange. The girls believe the aliens stole his brain. As if they didn't have enough to do, now they have to figure out how to fix Isaac. And unfortunately, during the extraordinary, extra-terrestrial events, no one captured any photos of the moment - including the two Mike's - and now no one believes that Eli is an alien. Moreover, Dr. DeVoid strongly considers having Mike and Myke committed.

The Adventures of Poni & Powsley : Episode #4 - The Diaper Caper

With a great sigh of relief, the girls are thrilled to learn that the aliens did not, in fact, steal Isaac's brain. As he explains, he simply suffers from stress-induced amnesia. They realize they need fool-proof plans for all future missions. While they're working on those plans, they decide to take on a less strenuous mission – the Karl mystery. There is something amiss with his mind-boggling intelligence. What baby never needs a diaper change?! They begin to investigate, convinced that this secret mission will be as easy as taking candy from a baby. However, once they nab lil' Karl's diaper, they are launched into a whole new world – literally, virtually. The diaper is actually a virtual portal into the U.S.N.I.S.R.! With kids, a rat, and bumbling agents running amuck, Dr. DeVoid declares red alert at headquarters while the special agents' mission careens wildly out of control – and without a foolproof plan to get the trio safely back home.

Your Awesome Network

The Adventures of Poni & Powsley : Episode #5 - Debunking DeVoid

Having escaped the dreaded DeVoid and the mayhem at the U.S.N.I.S.R., our special agents decide they must debunk the evil doctor and her insititute. This dangerous lunatic must be stopped in order to save the world, and they have to hurry because Poni and Powsley start school tomorrow. Their plan is dangerous, but who better to bring down the mad scientist than her own experiments? Once again, the unforeseeable and unexpected happens. Will our special agents make it home in time for dinner? Will the girls live to see their first day of 3rd grade? Will Isaac become cat food? Will Mike and Myke ever learn to untie a Boy Scout knot?! Stay tuned.

