

The Adventures of Poni & Powsley: The Movie

Written by: Christie Allen

SYNOPSIS:

In an eerie science lab a blue rat, Sir Isaac, uses a tool to escape his cage and scampers to a window on high. He leaps off the high ledge and freefalls fearlessly before pulling a parachute drifting safely to the ground. He stealthily makes his way across a yard surrounded by high barbed wire fence and armed guards. Sir Isaac looks back at the building, “United States National Institute for Scientific Research” before he disappears into the dark night.

The next day, an old-time Milk Truck drives through a suburban neighborhood with identical houses that’s a throwback to the 1950’s. In a backyard tool shed, eight-year-old POWSLEY, wears science goggles in her make-shift science lab. On a homemade intercom (a soup can with a string) she calls her next-door neighbor and best friend, PONI. Powsley confirms that Poni received the same exact prize decoder ring in her cereal that morning. Powsley explains to Poni that this is the sign “they’ve” been waiting for and they must meet to discuss in person, right now.

As the girls journey through their homes to meet up, they pass through nearly identical homes and similar family interactions. As the families are going about their morning routines, they are observed by D.I.A. (Dept. of Intelligence Agency) Agents, Mike and Myke, lurking about undetected.

Poni’s two-year-old brother, KARL, is alone in the kitchen when, HAI, a scientist suddenly appears in front of the little boy. Hai plays with Karl making him laugh. Hai also spots Agent Mike and warns him he’s watching him before Hai disappears.

Poni and Powsley meet between their two houses and climb a tree where Powsley explains the rings proves they are now special agents on a secret mission. Not convinced, Powsley then tells Poni she’s talked to an angel who rides a Harley – aka a Hog – and the angel told her they have to build a special agent hideout and “she will come”. Poni decides to play along, and the girls ride off on their skateboards to get the building supplies they need from old man Joe’s junkyard.

Meanwhile, at the local police station, the Chief is livid to discover Officer Mahoney is missing and has once again commandeered the station’s surveillance vehicle: an Ice Cream Truck.

The girls return home and build a fantastical hideout. They are enjoying milk and cookies when Sir Isaac stumbles into their treetop fort, speaks and passes out. The girls freak and run out, but bravely return with a bed and clothes to make the rat feel cozy and at home believing the rat’s arrival must be the one the angel promised. When Sir Isaac comes to and confronts the girls, it’s a funny but tense exchange that ultimately results in the rat and girls admitting to each other that their special agents. What a coincidence.

Back at the U.S.N.I.S.R., the lab Sir Isaac escaped from, a kooky, Russian scientist, Dr. DeVoid, talks with her mysterious employer, Dr. Kira'lyno, who demands an update on their secret plans: Operation Markie-Mark. DeVoid assures her all is going well, but when she hangs up we see that all is not well. The plan is a disaster since Sir Isaac is a part of that plan and he is AWOL. DeVoid summons Hai who is a scientist there whom she insists on treating like a secretary despite his vociferous protests, otherwise.

Next, DeVoid summons Mike and Myke demanding they capture her missing rat. She explains the girls they are spying on are part of Moonflowerville, a top-secret experiment she created that is a genetically modified community she controls. And the rat is another one of her little secrets: an ordinary lab rat transformed with human brain-functioning and a trained D.I.A. agent, albeit an ethically expendable spy. Mike and Myke explain they spotted the rat while surveilling Poni and Powsley. After several humorous miscommunications, they leave to capture the rat.

Back at the special agent hideout, Sir Isaac is sharing his valuable, top-secret intel. Powsley proceeds to share her suspicions about spies and scumbums but is especially concerned about the Iguaxular aliens – more specifically, her alien brother, ELI. Sir Isaac ponders the hideout, Powsley's intel – or lack thereof - and announces he's miscalculated the situation and must go.

Sir Isaac goes to leave the hideout and is captured by Mike and Myke. Powsley leaps into action surprising the agents. The girls are able to free Sir Isaac who then ties up Mike and Myke. Next, our trio are off to thwart DeVoid, except they have to wait because Poni can't be late for dinner.

Kira'lyno calls DeVoid moving up the timeline on their operation. DeVoid again calls in Hai and orders him to retrieve the rat. Hai uses his high-tech lab to spy on Poni and Powsley's families. He spots the tied-up agents and transports himself via a portal, which we learn is via Karl's diaper. Hai teleports to Poni's home where he heads out to find the agents and rat.

But, Eli has gotten to the tied-up agents first, and uses his alien powers to envelop them in a green field of light and teleport them to his room. But, not before Mike and Myke scream bloody murder. Hai appears on the spot moments later, but there's no agents to be found. Having heard the screams Poni and Powsley's families converge on the spot as Hai hides and observes from above in the hideout. With nothing to see, the families head back indoors. Except for Sir Isaac and the girls who agree to split up to find the missing agents and rendezvous back at the hideout.

Impatient, DeVoid has used the portal herself to join in the search. Hai spots Sir Isaac and also a green glow from Eli's bedroom and heads that way to investigate when he bumps into DeVoid. They agree to divide and conquer and signal with a bird call when they've captured the rat.

Eli now in his true form, Xrbet the alien, calls home via Zoom to Iguaxular to report he has captured two specimens. They agree on a rendezvous place and time just as Sir Isaac spying from the air duct sees the alien exchange and screams. The reverberating screams lead the aliens to mistakenly believe they've been discovered and are under attack. Eli runs scared. Freed, the agents drop to the floor. The Iguaxulars hang up and decide Xbert must be rescued and head for Earth per the agreed upon rendezvous.

Having found nothing, the girls wait in the hideout for Sir Isaac. A crow lands and caws, so DeVoid thinks Hai has the rat and heads back to portal herself back to the USNISR. Hai has run into the terrified agents who tell him about the aliens. Hai calms the agents down, then hears the crow caw. Thinking DeVoid has the rat, Hai lead the agents back to the portal, as well. Poni's parents are traumatized as DeVoid, Hai and the agents use Karl's diaper portal to disappear before their very eyes. Hai explains to the agents, they'll simply erase their memory, later.

Poni and Powsley go searching for Sir Isaac who is not himself, but rather wondering around Powsley's house as an ordinary rat. Powsley's cat discovers and chases Sir Isaac. The girls then chase after Sir Isaac right back to Poni's house where her mom drops the diaper on Sir Isaac landing him back at the U.S.N.I.S.R. The girls bravely follow after him to save their friend and fellow agent.

Back at Hai's lab, DeVoid has Hai close Karl's diaper portal, unaware that the trio have already teleported there. Hiding in a janitorial closet, Sir Isaac explains to the girls he has stress-induced amnesia rendering him an ordinary lab rat, again, at such times. They agree they must escape the U.S.N.I.S.R. to get back home and come up with a plan to shut down DeVoid once and for all.

Elsewhere, at the White House, we see Kira'lyno posing as the President's girlfriend and she has him under some kind of mind control, as well. At the police station, Officer Mahoney is being mocked as he's on desk duty for his crazy theories about and obsession with Moonflowerville. Mahoney snaps and runs off stealing the Ice Cream Truck, again. The Milk Man pulls up at Poni and Powsley's homes delivering milk, which erases memories.

Back at the lab, DeVoid and Hai both learn that neither recaptured the rat. DeVoid storms off. Sir Isaac and the girls sneak back into Hai's lab to portal themselves home, except only the girls are transported back before Hai discovers and stops Sir Isaac. Hai chases Sir Isaac setting off pandemonium at the U.S.N.I.S.R involving fire sprinklers. Sir Isaac runs right into DeVoid's office and is caught.

The girls realize Sir Isaac must've gotten captured and plan to return to free him but find the diaper portal's been closed. While out on the streets, Eli, not the brightest alien, roams aimlessly wandering how to return to Iguaxular. Officially fired, Officer Mahoney, vows to crack the mystery of Moonflowerville and heads back in camouflage on a mission.

Kira'lyno pays a visit to DeVoid to commence their mission with Sir Isaac. Hai eavesdrops on DeVoid and Kira'lyno learning they are sisters with plans to rule the world, and Kira'lyno's been using the same mind control serum on the President that's being used on Moonflowerville residents. Also, they plan to dispose of Sir Isaac as soon as they're done with him and his mission at the White House.

Hai enlists Mike and Myke's help and the girls to all work together to save Sir Isaac and stop the mad sisters. On the same side now, they all teleport to the White House locked and loaded with Dino Blasters filled with green and pink goop, but also squirt guns full of anti-obedience serum.

An epic goop battle ensues between our brave heroes at the White House between them and all the Aides and Secret Service. Our heroes save the day and even the President as they manage to deliver the anti-serum to everyone, but DeVoid and Kira'lyno escape in a helicopter.

Our heroes, Secret Service and President watch from the South Lawn relieved to be free, but disappointed as they watch the helicopter getaway when a UFO flies overhead towards Moonflowerville. Everyone scrambles.

The aliens arrive at the rendezvous point, but Eli isn't there. He's in Powsley's lab (the shed) building a transmitter that he plans to use to send a signal home. Hai, Mike, Myke, Poni, Powsley, and Sir Isaac all teleport into Powsley's backyard. They spot the UFO hover over at the water tower, then take off. They assume Eli and the aliens are gone, so head back to USNISR to take care of unfinished business there. Eli in alien form emerges from the shed and heads to the water tower. Office Mahoney emerges from Powsley's house. He's just missed the UFO, our heroes teleporting, and Eli in alien form. Mahoney comments how nothing ever happens at Moonflowerville as he drinks a glass of the memory erase milk.
